Sook Nyul Choi, author of "Year of Impossible Goodbyes" and "Echoes of the White Giraffe"

Sook Nyul Choi is the author of "Year of Impossible Goodbyes", a novel about a 10 year old refugee and her life in Korea during the aftermath of World War II. It has been translated into Korean, French, Italian and Japanese. It is an American Library Association (ALA) Notable Book and has received many other honors as well. Choi also wrote "Echoes of the White Giraffe", a sequel to "Year of Impossible Goodbyes". She was born in Pyongyang, North Korea. As a young refugee during the Korean War, Choi learned to face injustice and cruelty with courage and determination. Choi emigrated to the US to pursue her college education. She taught in public and parochial schools in New York and Massachusetts while raising her two daughters. After retiring from her teaching career, she moved to Cambridge, Massachusetts where she currently works as a full time writer. Choi's novels which are based upon her own experiences, have enriched the lives of young people all over the world.
